

NACS Partners with TurboPCI Easy Workbook to Assist Small operators Meeting PCI Compliance Mandates

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Orlando, FL, Jan. 27, 2009 — NACS announced today that it has partnered with TurboPCI™ to bring a simplified PCI compliance solution to NACS members. The announcement was made at the PCATS (Petroleum Convenience Alliance for Technology Standards) Annual Conference in Orlando.

The TurboPCI Easy workbook is designed to simplify the awkward and complicated certification process by applying a straightforward step-by-step method which walks smaller operators through PCI compliance.

“TurboPCI offers products that are developed by educators who are trained in the PCI DSS requirements by the card brands and their standards council”, said Michael Davis, NACS vice president of member services. “They are easy to use, easy to understand and easy to implement for PCI DSS compliance. What attracted us to the TurboPCI Easy Workbook was the fact that it was developed by a team of technology professionals and educators; that it was one of the most comprehensive and lowest cost products on the market today was an added benefit.”

“These are challenging times for retailers. PCI is requiring them to comply with a set of requirements that are written for computer professionals and not easy to understand. TurboPCI can help retailers meet this challenge by providing them with the step-by-step educational resources that will empower retailers to take charge,” said Dr. Suzanne Miller, senior partner of The Compliance and Audit Group, creator of the TurboPCI Easy Workbook.

TurboPCI Easy Workbooks are available for all validation types (1-5) and cost NACS members $99. Included in the workbook cost is 12 hours of free online consultation with PCI specialists and Qualified Security Assessors provided through TurboPCI. TurboPCI Easy Workbooks will be available for order by February 23 by going to www.nacsonline.com and clicking on the “Shop” button.
